Letter of Invitation

Dear Hiranmayi Shankavaram,

the Urban Health digiSpace is a digital space to learn more about the topic of Urban Health. Lectures, workshops and excursions offer an opportunity to exchange ideas with representatives from science and practice as well as local people in order to discuss and find common solutions.

From November the 15th to December the 10th 2021 different learning modules are offered. Online learning content is made publicly available through University of Applied Science for Health in Bochum and its partners on the web-page <https://urbanhealth-digispace.de/> .

Regarding your outstanding expertise, I invite you to take part in our activities in the Urban Health digiSpace by running local event groups in India using our online-learning material.

With kind regards

Heike Köckler
